

Science of Consciousness

Obi Wan Kenobi

In our modern technological/material world we are confronted with periods of time when our civilization goes through accelerated development that changes our perceptions and the way we process our personal and collective reality. These change points come upon us in subtle ways that go unnoticed by many of us and yet there are some who recognize what is taking place in real time.

We can look back on the last fifty (50) years and see certain accelerated changes that have had a profound impact on many of us and changed our civilization from the inside out. We have seen the solid state circuit, the digital revolution, fiber optics, robotics, and Star Wars technology that is 50 to 100 years ahead of what is released within the public domain. Our military has a level of technology that is literally beyond most peoples understanding. It involves hyper-dimensional, electromagnetic, frequency, plasma and micro wave technologies that would astound most technically savvy young people.

The digital computer revolution has opened the floodgates and given researchers a new understanding as it pertains to the spiritual teachings of old and how they may be better understood utilizing our current knowledge of science and technology. The ancient texts, hidden for so long are now available to people while sitting at their computer, in their office or their home. One never has to leave the comfort of their space to uncover a new truth or expose an old lie. We are now able to see the spiritual teachings with the eyes of higher physics and then translate those truths to better understand what the Mystics, the Sages and the Spiritual Masters were speaking to and passing down to our generation.

Star Gates, Hyper-Dimensional transport systems, vibrational physics, trans-dimensional intelligent life moving throughout the multi-verse and interacting with Planet Earth and Hu-Man-ity. Translating our ancient texts, to reveal the genetic manipulation of our species and the system of control that was established by our trans-dimensional masters is now upon us.

Much of this information and understanding must be viewed through the eyes of our current scientific understanding. We must be grown up enough to sort through what western scientific methods reveal. We must be willing to reframe the nature of our personal and collective reality to better understand our true ancient origins and our true Hu-Man history. Not the manufactured, deleted, false history sold to us as fact but rather what our modern research and scientific testing uncovers.

The truth is there for all to see if we are willing and able to look with fresh eyes and be curious enough to seek answers based on research and science. Many researchers are convinced that we now have the ability to connect the dots and put the pieces of the puzzle together absent the false manipulation of those men and women, institutions and organizations that would hold us back. Their power and control over humanity must come to an end so we may reach our full potential using our logic, intellect, spiritual and metaphysical conscious awareness and our scientific understanding. We have the ability to take our species to a new level of development and rise up to cast off the old way of seeing, interpreting our ancient and religious texts. It is time to either graduate to a new level or fall back and repeat the cycle.

This Blog is dedicated to the truth. It is my sincere meditation that I help to inform, educate and illuminate what is truly taking place and how we as a species might grow in our personal and collective understanding and conscious awareness. We can uncover the truth. We can understand what is taking place at this time in our history. We can rise up and throw off the false manipulation(s) so we might graduate to the next level on the evolutionary Stairway to Heaven. It is possible for us to graduate now. The fact that most of humanity has been stuck and unable to understand the evolutionary cycles of consciousness development is a historical fact. Now we must personally and collectively seize the moment and awaken through a new level of spiritual, scientific and metaphysical understanding. We must put on our mystical side. We must reach deep inside our being and push our level of awareness so we might climb the Stairway to Heaven. It takes an act of our free will and an understanding of the process if we are to take that step.

My guides have instructed me to send the message loud and clear that the time has come for all willing souls to make a choice in their expression. We must choose positive or negative, service to self or service to others, power and control or love and compassion, graduation time or falling back to repeat the cycle. The shift of the ages is taking place as I write these words. It has been spoken of by the prophets. It is spelled out in our ancient and religious texts. It is being measured by western scientific methods. All the signs are here and now it is time to make a free will decision.

May I encourage all of us to take the time to research the Science of Consciousness and come to a greater awareness within the context of our own understanding.

Peace to all
